WHAT WE BELIEVE

There is strong evidence in the chemical dependency field that 30-day inpatient treatment is usually not a sufficient amount of time to build a foundation strong enough to support long term sobriety. In fact, research has shown that a minimum of 90 days in a structured setting increases the chances for success dramatically. Choice House is a premier provider of structured, long-term services designed to support clients on their road to long-term recovery. Choice House provides the additional structure and longevity needed to maximize the potential for success in recovery.

WHO WE ARE

Located in beautiful old-town Louisville in Boulder County, Colorado, Choice House is a 12-step based, enhanced recovery community for men coming out of 30-day or longer primary treatment for substance abuse.

Situated within walking distance to shopping and bus lines, Choice House offers variable lengths of stay, with a minimum 90-day commitment. With 15 total beds available, only individuals that are dedicated to their ongoing success in sobriety will be considered for placement.

Choice House works with referral sources to ensure that the client's discharge and aftercare requirements are supported.
